Henry Tomkins, Ralph White and Raymond J. McLaughlin, all of Portland, Me., stopped over for a couple of days with friends in Barre while on their return trip to their home from an all summer's touring expedition through New England and the more eastern states.

They all went up through the street this morning head down in weak defiance of the first snow blizzard of the season, which has been so much delayed that it wasn't expected at all. For several hours the frozen clouds continued to blow up the streets and around the corners.

The pigeons that live on the front of city hall are giving Barre the "grind laugh" to-day. Someone heard or discovered or decided that an unexpected shower bath might shock or surprise the birds away from the place where they have become an almost unbearable nuisance. Therefore, the firemen crept stealthily out of the station at 6 o'clock last night, snatched up several lengths of hose and before the feathered tenants could bat an eye a veritable blanket of water was being laid on them. However, either the water wasn't cold enough or the informer was sadly misinformed, for to-day, storm notwithstanding, the pigeon family is at home to all, as usual.

"The Old Nest" Coming.

When "The Old Nest" comes to the Magnet theatre, the people of Barre will have a chance to see a picture that has been hailed by critics and reviewers as the most satisfying all-American picture that has yet been produced. The theme, that of a mother who sees her six children leave her, one by one, is common to American families. All the poignancy of feeling that these leave-takings arouse in real life have been caught on the screen.

Rupert Hughes is the author of this unusual tale of mother love. He has sought to present a cross-section of a universal theme as applied to an American family. All the joys and sorrows connected with raising a family have been dramatized. Each of the children grow to manhood or womanhood with his own individual interests, then leaves the old nest to follow the call of his desires. Only their mother is left for her loneliness and her memories. But, as in every American family, the young remember the old nest and return to it.

The picture was produced by Goldwyn and was directed by Reginald Barker. Mary Alden plays the old mother, and her performance has been said to be a masterpiece of screen acting—adv.

Couldn't Walk—Now Cured.

Norwood, N. J., Jan. 2, 1908. To Whom it May Concern: I have been a sufferer of rheumatism for 21 years. I have paid out over $4,000, mean time for remedies, baths and to specialists without permanent relief. At times I couldn't walk, I was pretty well discouraged. In August last I commenced using the Famous A. J. P. Rheumatic Cure which began to relieve me at once. I have taken 2½ bottles of the remedy and I can truthfully say that I have been fully cured. WOMEN UNDER TWENTY-ONE

There is a form of anemia called chlorosis that most frequently attacks young women. It is most common between 13 and 21. The symptoms are pallor, debility, breathlessness and palpitation of the heart. It is a disease which easily runs into a fatal form of anemia unless it is corrected in time. Chlorosis yields readily to proper treatment. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are recommended together with a proper diet and plenty of sunlight and fresh air. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood. When they do this they tone up every nerve in the body. They strengthen the stomach and make digestion thorough and comfortable. "Building Up the Blood" is a booklet full of useful information. Every mother and every growing girl should have one. It is free on request. Your own druggist can supply you with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or you can order direct from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., at 60 cents a box—adv.

Her Witness.

An attorney in a small southern town, upon entering his office early one morning, was surprised to find an old colored woman waiting as a client. He greeted her and she returned his salutation, following it closely with a question.

"Kunneel, can you write me a will?" "Certainly," he replied. "That's my business."

"Wal, you knows Mandy, don't you?" she asked.

"Don't believe I do," he replied.

"Wal, Mandy, she's 'reased and done left a farm and no kinfolks and no will. All dem folks ovah dere 'cross de river is claimin' kin wid her, and Ah wants you to write me a will so Ah kin git dat farm."

The lawyer was amazed at the nature of her business, and explained the penalties involved in compounding a felony. He clinched his argument by telling her the will would be void without a witness.

"Dat's awright 'bout de witness, Kunneel," she said, with a smile. "Ah's done paid Deacon Smith fob bits an' a chicken to witness it."—Judge.

Matrimony Described.

He was crusty and rude, but as a celebrity he was entitled to indulgence in these matters. And his pretty hostess was not one to shirk any conversational encounter with him.

"Tell me, Mr. Lehigh," she inquired, "what is your idea of marriage?"

"Madam," he replied, "my idea of marriage is very much the same kind of vague but inarticulate protest as a dog's conception of a tin can that is tied to his tail!"—Philadelphia Inquirer.

A cold, even when it has developed a hacking cough, difficult breathing, sleepless nights, raw throat and sore lungs—even the coldest yields quickly to Foley's Honey and Tar. Mrs. Milton Waite, box 32, Aralia, Mich., writes: "I have used Foley's Honey and Tar for the past 20 years and find there is no other cough or croup remedy like it. You may use my name."
